In the same year, Lydia's vocal/instrumental folk work Thirteen Feathers and Thirteen Stones was performed at the Vermont Statehouse for the International Council of Thirteen Indigenous Grandmothers.

For all you horn nerds out there, she plays a Lewis and Duerk x5 horn and is a Siegfried's Call Artist. Her works are published by Cimarraon and by the Westleaf Edition, and you can learn more about her at her website lydialowerybusler.com.

About the piece:

Appalachia has been performed and recorded by multiple musicians, and reimagined for stage and video as well. Our own Debra Sherrill recently recorded it for Chamber Music Charleston in addition to Loon Lake Live. It is a wonderful expression of the power, grace, and beauty of the French horn as a versatile instrument. In this solo piece we hear calling gestures, languid melodic contouring, rhythmic excitement, and an exploration of the full pitch range. It's a piece of music that can be listened to from multiple points of view with a different response each time. Enjoy Debra Sherrill's rendition of Lydia Busler's Appalachia, recorded at her home during quarantine, and with images curated by Mel Aman.
